Ithaca Slater 20 Cage Games

Bombers To Meet Iona College In Opener On Dec. 5

by Scotty Le Vine

The Ithaca College Varsity basketball team will open their 1947-48 intercollegiate season on the home floor at the Seneca Gym on Dec. 5, with nineteen other contests penciled in throughout the following three months. Game time is set for 8:30. In the preliminary contest the Frosh hoopsters will entertain the courtmen from Triple Cities College. The tap-up is set for 7:00 P.M.

The Bombers have six frays set for the home hardwood and will hit the road for the other fourteen contests which include 2 games in the Buffalo Memorial Aud. with St. Bonaventure and Gannon and a game with Long Island University at Brooklyn, N. Y.

As far as making predictions are concerned the Bomber mentor, Ben Light, refuses to go out on the limb until his current aggregation has displayed its ability under fire. However, this is no sign that Light lacks faith in his pupils. It is just in line with his usual conservative policy of not going overboard on his product until it has "sold" itself.

In spite of the championship calibre of some of the Blue and Gold opponents, it would be wise not to rule the Bombers out of any sort of running. Four of the first five from last year are back, as well as seven veterans who saw considerable action last year; the two newcomers to the squad are Ross Passineau and Warren Manning. Also it is interesting to note that no one will be lost at mid-semester graduation. This all adds up to the belief that the Bombers should have a pretty good season.

Ithaca's height will be supplied mainly by Bob Vosbrink 6'4" and Dick Slesinski 6'3" both seasoned veterans. Up forward at present are Dick Freguson, Andy Sykela and Joe Jastrab who also is a good man in the pivot spot. Back court, Coach Light has some good talent in Bob Sampson, Alf Lombardo, Dick Bennison and Ross Passineau. Sampson, Lombardo and Bennison saw considerable action last year while Passineau is a newcomer. Ed Risley, Warren Manning, "Jake" Jahelka, Dick Watkins, Dave Benoit, Chet Gray, Warren Astle, and John Smith who incidentally is the only business student on the squad are trying hard to crack the select group. The Varsity squad will consist of twelve men with three extra men from the J.V. to be brought up to the Varsity at the home contests.

Little is known about the Bombers first opponent Iona College of New Rochelle, N. Y. except that they are a big squad and are well fortified with veterans from last year's squad. Also they play in the strong Metropolitan Conference down New York City way which is enough said.

Following the Iona engagement the Bombers will meet Sampson and Oswego on the home floor before making a jaunt to New England to meet Becker College and the strong New Britain Teachers College quintet.

Varsity managers are Joe Gluck and Bob Soffes. The trainer is that old reliable Fred "Analgesic" Meyers who did a grand job as varsity football trainer.

Fourteen Appointed To College Who's Who

This year the names of fourteen students at Ithaca College have been selected as entries in the annual edition of "Who's Who In American Colleges." Selections for this national publication were made by faculties in each of the departments. The criteria upon which selection was based included the following:

1. High academic record.
2. Participation in college activities, and general contributions to the school.
3. Evidences of leadership during the student's years in college.
4. Those intangible qualities which go to make up character.

Among this year's students chosen for "Who's Who In American College," were the Juniors and Seniors: Edward Hacker, Jean Petras, Dewey Riemersma, Robert Messinger, Henry M. Carr, Lois Murray, Dolores Holland, Richard Woods, Eileen Germiller, Robert Wells, Charles Sanders, Josephine Call, Arthur Narr, and recent graduate James Formichella.

Original One Acts Presented in Theatre

Friday night the curtain went up in the Little Theater . . . not unusual except for the fact that Friday's curtain revealed four one-act plays written by IC students. The bill included "Before a Fall" by Barbara Timmens, "Black Sunset" by Howard Johnson (who has since graduated), "Others With Fear" by Bruce Flaherty, and "Oh, Marie" by Dan Bonacci.

Timmen's play dealt with conflict between a young piano student and his teacher. Highlight of the play was the original music composed for the play by James Timmens, brother of the author. The cast did a great job for "Timmy," who turned the direction of the play over to Dolores Holland. The cast . . . Harry Basch, Dick Woods, and Skip Armato.

Flaherty's play gave the audience a picture of, again, conflict . . . this time in a newspaper office. Directed by the author, the cast included: Bill Becker, Roger Moore, Jack Tillinghast, Everett Rouse and Lou Gallo.

Johnson's show had its moments. Directed by Erma Schiele, it played up the situation of the strong being victor over the weak. Cast in the show were: Joyce Donahue, Phyllis Gorse, Pete Gumeny and Sybil Hullman.

Bonacci's show goes without saying . . . hilarity prevailed, and both

College Orchestra Presents Concert In Foster Hall Dec. 7

The Ithaca College Orchestra, under the direction of Craig McHenry, will present a program on Sunday evening, December 7th at 8:15 p.m. in Foster Hall.

The program is as follows:
Toccata ..... Frescobaldi-Kindler
Prelude ..... Scriabine
Symphony No. 4 in F Minor .....

..... Tchaikowsky
Moderato con anima
Andantino in modo di canzone
Scherzo: Pizzicato ostinato
Allegro con fuoco

The orchestra this year has a personnel numbering seventy-five players, and gives promise of maintaining the fine performing standards of last year.

The featured selection is the Symphony No. 4 by Tchaikowsky. Tchaikowsky began to compose this symphony in 1877 and completed it in 1878. It was first performed at Petrograd under the composer's baton, and was dedicated to "My Best Friend," referring to Nadejda Von Meck, his benefactor whom he never met.

The Fourth, along with the Fifth and Sixth (Pathetique), is among the most popular of Tchaikowsky's works.

Local V.A. Office Now On Cornell Campus

Up on the hill, in a converted Quonset hut, over 50 employees of the Veterans Administration are working steadily to educate, pay, and in emergencies hospitalize the 6,000 veterans in the Ithaca area.

Mr. H. Henry is the Ithaca College contact man. He, or one of his assistants will be in Mr. Devricks' office on most Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. In the event an emergency should arise on other days, Vets should call Cornell University Extension 2801 and ask for Mr. Henry or Mr. Williams.

If an emergency involving pain requiring medical attention should arise at a time when the V.A. office is closed, the Vet may select any dentist or physician of his choice. The doctor should then phone the Chief of Medical Service at the Chimes Building, Syracuse, and receive oral permission to proceed with the necessary work.

Ordinary dental work does not constitute an emergency, and should be handled through the V.A. office up on the hill.

Three Counselors and a psychometrician are employed by the V.A. for the purpose of re-evaluating and guiding the Vet who wishes to change his course of study or transfer to another school. The counselors are available at any time for information concerning National Service Life Insurance. The Veterans Administration urges all veterans who have allowed their NSLI policies to lapse to re-instate them immediately.

Mr. Henry suggests that before going up to the quonset hut, the Vet call the V.A. A telephone call may save you a trip up the hill. But whether you phone or call in person Mr. Williams reassures you that the Veterans Administration is there for only one purpose . . . to render service to the Veterans in the Ithaca area.

Business Organizes New Fraternity

The Business Department can now boast a new Ithaca College fraternity, Kappa Psi. The new organization has received official sanction from President Leonard B. Job. It has also received the approval of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

The desire for a Business Fraternity has been evidenced for some time, but the movement required an impetus. Its birth was almost spontaneous, with a bit of guiding provided by Dave Allan and several others. At a meeting of twelve members of the Business Department held early in October it was decided that feelers would be sent out to determine the interest in such an organization. At the subsequent meetings the group expanded to thirty six, drew up a constitution, and elected officers. President Job was approached relative to sanctioning of the new fraternity and with his blessing the organization's constitution was submitted to the Inter-Fraternity Council for approval.

Kappa Psi, as the new fraternal group has been designated, is temporarily a local fraternity, but a charter has been requested from the National Fraternity. The following are charter members: President David M. Allan Jr., Vice Pres. James T. Corrigan, Secretary Glenn A. Shaff, Jr.; Executive Committee, Fred Griffin, John J. May, and Melvin C. Semmel; Active Members: R. Alexander, B. Barnard, J. Beaudoin, C. Bednarczyk, E. Bredbenner, A. Capozzi, A. N. Cristofaro, V. Coggi, W. Dickinson, F. G. Fegley, B. Harris, G. D. Irving, C. Jordan, F. A. Manning, J. J. Martirano, J. McEligot, M. J. Meiczinger, H. Novakowski, R. Osmun, W. Osterhout, G. Patala, R. J. Pickering (Social Chairman), T. G. Pierce, O. F. Quas, H. Snyder, K. M. Ticknor, J. W. Vincent, J. Welsh, R. Wright, F. Yells.

During the next few months they plan to further expand and begin to absorb the many good men which now make up the bulk of the Business Department. They wish to thank Mr. Charles K. McGurk, Director of the Business Department, for his assistance and counsel in launching the fraternity.

In Sympathy

The editors of the Ithacan, the faculty and student body of Ithaca College expresses their deepest sympathy to Michael McKillop, whose wife passed away recently.

Mrs. McKillop, the former Dorothy Mevis was a graduate of the Physical Education Department.

The Quonset Hut which houses the V.A. is the first one to the right after the first stop on the Cornell Campus of the Eddy Street bus.

First Known Stage Production in America

The second major production of the current season, "The Brontes" by Alfred Sangster, will be presented in the Ithaca College Little Theatre, December 10th through 13th.

The cast includes Dan Rubinate as Rev. Bronte with Lucille Mechanic, Lois Murray, Daryl Sterner and Bob Bressoud as his literary children. Other roles will be filled by Harry Herman, Lynne Klein, Irma Schiele, Gladys Barnes, Robert Bischoff, Harry Basch, Barbara Timmens, Larry Arrick, Dan Safford, Stan Levenson and Ed Bigelow.

The play develops around the theme of suppressed emotion. It tells the familiar story of the famous Bronte family, emphasizing Rev. Bronte's tremendous influence over his four talented children.

The author has also included several lighter scenes filled with the charm and delicacy of simple humor, making it a play memorable for its fine combination of drama and high comedy.

A costume play, The Brontes is divided into eight scenes requiring three completely different sets and necessitating at least five shifts of scenery. The extra technical problems involved will point up the work of the backstage crews who are often forgotten when a production runs smoothly.

The production, now in rehearsal, is under the direction of Mrs. Florence Larson. Sets will be designed by George Hoerner; Technical Director Dennis Seiter will supervise the backstage work.

Training for Rec. Leaders Developed at I.C.

Ithaca College has recently developed a course of training designed to qualify students for leadership positions in the field of recreation. The college at the present time offers a major in physical education, music and drama. The basic training in these major fields of endeavor is supplemented by the courses necessary to produce a well rounded recreation person.

In order to accomplish this type of well rounded development, it is necessary to cut across departmental lines and make up for short comings. The physical education major, for instance, receives training in drama, music and recreational crafts. The music major may need training in games and sports, drama and recreational crafts. The drama major may need training in sports and games, music and recreational crafts.

Basic recreation courses common to all groups consists of:

- 1—Philosophy of Recreation.
- 2—Leadership in Community Recreation.
- 3—Administration of Recreation.
- 4—Camping Administration.
- 5—Juvenile Delinquency and Crime Prevention.
- 6—Recreational Crafts.

TOMORROW AT NOON

Thanksgiving vacation begins at noon tomorrow, and we close our desks for four wonderful days of relaxation. The first few weeks of school have been busy, and the time has come for a long needed rest.

First there was "Wings Over Europe," a fine play which began rehearsals almost before school began. Next came "The Night of January 16th" which introduced central staging to I.C.

PhiEK was busy with Co-Rec nights, using both gyms this year instead of one.

The new radio building began operation, broadcasting four hours a week over last year's one. Specially prepared programs were broadcast over WHCU and WHCU-FM in honor of National Radio Week.

The College Band, under the direction of Mr. Beeler had a splendid concert in Foster Hall, and several student recitals were presntd in the Little Theatre.

Frosh Frolics was presented on November 14th with the usual trials and tribulation on the part of the directors who, incidentally, did some fine work.

Innumerable house dances were held, and Phi Mu's Masquerade Ball on Hallowe'en proved a success. Along came the Maniacs Ball sponsored by Kappa Gamma, the first semi-formal of the year to round out the social calendar.

The Scampers committee has begun work on the annual show, and much in the line of preparation has been accomplished.

The weeks have been busy, and if we've forgotten anything it's only because so much has happened we can't recall it all.

So here's to a busy past and an equally busy future. When we get back on December 1st, there's Scampers to think about, the "Brontes" to produce, an orchestra concert on the boards, and the opening of the basketball season. A lot to crowd into the three short weeks before Christmas.

So rest up, students, and a full Thanksgiving to you all.

—B.J.

REPLY

This past week, the editors of the Ithacan received an irate letter from a student, beginning, "I wonder if you have the nerve to print this?"

The letter itself expressed adverse opinions concerning the judging of the unlamented Frosh Frolics—sentiments which we echoed, to an extent, but which were stated in a manner calculated to arouse only anger on the part of the reader towards the writer.

For several reasons, we are refusing to print this letter:

(1) No reputable paper will print letters couched in unreasonably antagonistic language.

(2) The Ithacan may have its faults, but we try to maintain a certain integrity, and whatever policy changes the future may bring will not involve printing anonymous letters.

(3) We're as quick to take a dare as anyone, but we've also studied psychology—and this little trick will not work.

If the writer of this letter will take his gripes to the WCC or to the judges of the contest—perhaps he or she will receive satisfaction. As far as we are concerned, the subject is closed.

Phy Eds Take Cup At Frosh Frolics

The Physical Education department won the cup this year at the annual Freshman Frolics which was presented on Friday evening, November 14 at the Little Theater. For the first time in the history of Frolics the Business Department contributed to the program, which is made up of original skits produced individually by each department.

Corinne Marino and Judy Young directed the Music Girls in a take-off on the various departments in IC while the Drama Department, directed by Thelma Bjork and Phyllis Pendleton, presented a skit based on a behind-the-scenes preparation for Frosh Frolics itself.

The girls in Physical Education, under the direction of Alice Anagnos and Ann O'Brien, gave a skit which illustrated what the results would be if comic strip characters were reversed.

The Business Department concluded the program with a minstrel show which was directed by Eleanor D'Amelio and Dorothy Pardi.

This year's Frosh Frolics showed fine cooperation and a great deal of work on behalf of both the girls and the student directors.

Those members of the faculty who acted as judges were Dr. Landon, Dean Taylor, Mr. Page and Mr. Sargent.

The evening of entertainment was culminated by a Vic dance in the Seneca Street Gym which was sponsored by Phi Delta Pi.

Hidden Talent Uncovered At Scampers Tryouts

What was planned as try-outs for the "Scampers" production, last Wednesday evening, turned out to be a preview of much of the fine talent that will probably make up this year's show.

Upon learning that the Aurora gym, the announced location for try-outs, would be busy, Mr. John Groller graciously turned over the facilities of the new Radio Building on Court Street. The crowd that turned out filled two studios and the hallway.

The scene was set by Marcia McGranigan, Martha Barber, Beverly Stephens, Mary McCormick, Gloria Sacco, Bob Bressoud, Bill Cap-polo, among others, all interested in doing solo vocal work. Helen Farrian and Cecile Biot displayed their tersichorean talents. Pete DeLuca was encouraged by those who responded to his request for original songs and music. Many representatives of the Drama Department met to receive assignments in writing dialogue for different portions of the show, while Roger Moore and Dick Wanamaker each presented impressionistic acts. The Phy Ed Dept. produced the surprise of the evening when "Rocky" D'Onofrio, tore lose with his version of "Naughty Angelina" as he really tickled the ivories. Bob Mulligan then gave his interpretation of a German submarine commander in action and left his audience in stitches.

Although most production ideas are pretty well set up, the "Scampers" committee is still interested in seeing any acts that weren't able to make try-outs. Appointments with members of the committee may be had by contacting either Dan Bonacci or Paul Hadley.

recreation. The stress is on the creative aspect of leadership and the students are closely enough supervised in "practice" recreation situations to be able to develop this approach.

Professor Robert F. Bigley will supervise this undergraduate program.

By Dave Mistovsky

... THANKSGIVING TURKEY ... What a sight New York or wherever you hang your hat will be. Just think of the oodles of white meat (of course, you might like the dark) and of a good seat at a good show along the Great White Way. This is the vasa-tion that's always the longest one to wait for. And, although the shortest, it means only a few short weeks before the next sojourn. Even the Lehigh looks good! ...

* * *

... "WELL, WHAT DO YA' KNOW DEPT.!" ... Sam Woodside to Sportscast the complete play by play of all IC home basketball games except one. ... The shows are to be aired over WHCU-FM. Those of you who can't get to the games and don't have seats will just have to hope for the best. Perhaps by the time the first game come around there'll be some more FM receivers in the area ... PEOPLE ARE TALKING ... som like the dig at Scampers and others don't. Well, what say we get something straight instead of jumping around like Chickens Without Heads. It's all well and good to rely on the same customers to see Scampers each year, but throw them a couple more floppers and you won't draw enough to pay the janitor! We're all for Scampers, but we won't get optimistic about anything until it looks good. Don't confuse earnestness with optimism. The committee has started on the right foot by planning a revue—not a vaudeville, we hope,—but a revue, and that's good. Some of the talent that showed up at the Auditions came through with flying colors. We hear that Bob Mulligan threw more than a laugh at the judges; he threw some talent ... Just a parting word to the heads of Scampers ... It stems from one of the sages of Elizabethan Lit—who said something about "Moderation." Iron out the kinks and don't throw in the kitchen sink and you'll find us one hundred per cent behind you. Fair enough?

... COMING ALONG ... The I.C. Radio Workshop in for some drastic changes ... Let's get a little more people to tell the mythical I.C. station, WICR, what type of programs they like. Did'ja know that a new Talent Program will be originating pretty soon from the I.C. Workshop? ... Of course, you should know that the Kollege Kwiz returns to-day at 4:15 from Studio A. Why not drop over there and catch Dan Bonacci kwiz the Kollegians. You can also hear it in the theater.

... NEW FACES ... All the seniors who were out practice teaching. ("Now what's that name again?") ... We're seeing more faces at the different school events—both department and social. It's good to see the side-wallers at the Concerts Dances, and Plays ... Just watch the tremendous crowd at the Court games. Too bad we can't get a few hundred more in the gym.

... ALONG ALUMNI ROW ... Peg Lobbin still doing quite a few Network Radio and NBC video shows ... Mike McKillop waiting to tear loose his basketballers from Hobart ... Rusty Grant who was back here about '39 and whom we met this summer is a Grade School Phys Ed instructor in New York. "Rusty" played pro ball with Elmira ... The Alumni association in Ithaca met last week and we understand (and certainly hope) that they're making plans for a big reunion in the Spring ... We still hear Margaret Daum occasionally on the "Album of Familiar Music." She was past president of the A.A.

* * *

... PREDICTIONS THAT WE HOPE COULD COME TRUE ... More cleavage between Radio and Drama ... painting of the Theater and some classrooms ... A new and better home schedule for games—especially football ... Less talking behind backs ... and less chips on the shoulders ... That's it for now. Don't eat too much during vacation—you're liable to miss it too much when you return ... Too much, too much. ... Thank you.

Fraternally Yours

Phi Delta Pi

Last Friday night, Phi Delt held a "Turkey Hop" to welcome back the fraternity's seniors who returned from practice teaching.

C. McGuire was the winner of the portable radio, raffled at the Vic Dance on November 14th.

Plans are already underway for the annual Balloon Ball which will be held on February 7th. And once again, Phi Delt offers a solution to your Christmas shopping problems, by selling magazine subscriptions.

Sigma Alpha Iota

You should all know our pledges by now after seeing them with their suitcases and bibs. All are working hard so that they may become members early in December. We are cheering for them too.

Congratulations are in order for the four girls who have appeared in recitals already this year. They are Jean Petras, Janis Hughes, Ruth Griffith and Jean Hallen. Both recitals were enjoyed by all. Plans for our next social event, the Holly Hop, are well under way. This is a closed formal for SAI members and their dates.

Phi Mu Alpha

Phi Mu's annual Thanksgiving Dance for members, will be held tonight at the house, with Art Rae social chairman in charge. Square dances and games have been planned in keeping with the season spirit.

The chorus is rehearsing several Fred Waring arrangements for the annual Musciale to be presented on December 18th in the Little Theatre.

Theta Alpha Phi

Four original one acts presented this past weekend have given impetus to Theta Alpha Phi to organize a play-writing contest. Details will be announced at a later time.

New initiates will be bidden soon, and the initiation and formal banquet will be held in December.

Kappa Gamma

The "Maniac's Ball" was quite successful, and the Corsageless dance seems to have the approval of a good many of the female contingent. Perhaps we have established a good precedent.

A Happy Thanksgiving to all of the members and students!

Bomber Frosh Bow To Alfred Gridmen In Season Finale 27-0

Ithaca, N. Y.—Nov. 14—Playing before a sparse crowd on a cold dreary afternoon at Percy Field, the Ithaca Frosh gridmen were handily defeated by an undefeated Alfred 11 to the tune of 27-0. Riddled by injuries the Blue and Gold were badly outclassed by the big and shifty Saxons. The Bombers didn't show much, as compared to their previous contests; and didn't get any closer than the opponents 42 yd. line during the entire game.

Alfred scored in every period, the first was by O'Keefe on a 12 yd. run. On the last play of the first half Chet Davis, Saxon halfback hit over left guard from the 1 ft. line after two gallant attempts by the Bomber forward wall failed to hold him. An O'Keefe to Davis aerial covered 21 yds. and a touchdown in the third quarter. In the last period Bouie darted around left end for 19 yds to the Ithaca 2 where he lateraled to Carr who went over for the score.

It was the second win in four starts for the Bombers, which gave them a season record of 2 and 2. For Alfred it was their fourth straight win.

Varsity Gridders Dine At Coddington's

The Ithaca College varsity football team dined at the Coddington Restaurant Thursday night and heard talks from members of the coaching staff and was entertained by Bob Mulligan, who is a performer in his own right.

Coach Pete Hatch spoke briefly as did his assistants Phil Hubbard, John J. O'Neil and Frank Toumey. Coach Hatch also showed movies of the Cornell-Columbia football game which proved to be very interesting.

Ed Weed, varsity guard, acted as toastmaster, and presented gifts to the coaches in behalf of the players.

Frosh Hoopsters Prepare For Season Opener Against Triple Cities

For the past two weeks some one hundred freshmen have been showing their wares to Coach Frank Toumey, a graduate student and pre-war IC athlete, who assisted "Pete" Hatch with the varsity football squad this fall.

Hampered by the usual lack of time and space Frank has brought the Frosh along slowly and has stressed the fundamental skills rather than fancy ball-handling. The freshmen will model their style of play after the varsity and might event add a thing or two of their own. After giving those who were delayed due to football a chance to loosen up, the squad has been pared down to some twenty odd men who will form the nucleus of the squad.

Those who survived the initial cuts and are now seeking starting berths are Charles Yancey, "Ace" Gornek, Steve Blazek, Andy McGuffin, Dick and Hank Osmer, Ray Kirkgasser, Zurk Faulkner, C. VanDeusen, Don Ball, Bob Brown, Kayo Augustine, "Doc" Donnelly, Dick McCarthy, Sam Barrody, Tony Gemma, Gus Koch, Hank Wisher, Charles Barber, Nick Dercola, Carl Johanson, Jim St. Clair, Matolla, Bennett, and Mills.

Toumey would not give a hint as to who would make up the starting five when the Frosh pry the lid off the winter sports program in Ithaca against the Triple-Cities Frosh in a preliminary to the IC-Iona tussle. However those who have shown up fairly well in early scrimmage include "Ace" Gornek, Andy McGuffin, Dick McCarthy, who according to all reports also does fairly well as a baseball pitcher and Gus Koch, who learned his basketball under G. Warren Kias, the same coach who turned out Sangendorf and Zelig. You'll remember them as the two who gave Ben Light something of a scare before.

Co-Rec Encouraged

Phi EK has worked hard setting up the Co-Rec night program for the student body of this school. This is your program for your benefit and enjoyment. To date, the attendance and cooperation from the student body has been very poor. The only way you can show Phi EK your appreciation for this program is by your attendance and cooperation on Wednesday nights. Publication of activities are amply distributed throughout the campus.

J.V. Courtment Train Under Guidance Of Coach Hubbard

With most of the cuts made on the Varsity squad, but with a few still remaining, the Junior Varsity basketball team has been working hard under the careful guidance of Coach Phil Hubbard. The J.V. will use the same offensive and defensive tactics as the varsity. At the varsity home games 3 men from the J.V. will be elevated to the varsity. The J.V. will have a complete schedule of their own which is in the process of completion now, and will be released in the next issue of the Ithacan. As yet Coach Hubbard has not decided how many men he will keep. A greater portion of the J.V. saw action last year with either the Freshman or J.V. hoop squads. Members of the J.V. to date are Robert Myles, Harold Farrell, Jack Casey, Charles Gray, Carl Gaffney, Pat Oakes, George Steitz, Joe Foyle, Vincent McGinnis, Mort Cassell, Bob McCarthy and Moose Miller.

More men will be added to the squad when the final varsity cut is made this week.

Varsity Grapplers Strengthened By Returns of Vets

With an all veteran aggregation on hand Coach "Whitey" Cole has started practice which is held daily in the rear of the Seneca Gym. With only six weeks left before the season opener, Coach Cole will have to work his men hard so they will be in shape for their first match. Leading this year's team is Capt. Ed Van Gorder, a senior, who last year wrestled in the 155 lb. class. He will wrestle at the same weight again this year. Returning veterans are John Spencer, heavyweight, Ed Weed last year's captain, 165, Don Robinson, 121, Dave Garvey, 175, Bob Allen, 135. Also back is Louie Llop, 128, who was out of action most of last season with a bad arm; and Dan Colletta 145, who saw a lot of action last year, but is being hampered this year by a shoulder separation. Therefore he may see little or no action this season. Two newcomers to the squad are Jim La Rock who is the National Senior AAU champ at 165 lbs. and little Dick Hoover, who is the Niagara District AAU 121 lb. champ. With these two men and an all veteran squad Coach Cole hopes to turn out a top-notch squad. At present the schedule only has six matches but a few more matches will be added in the very near future.

actors and audience had a lot of fun. It was based on a simple situation, and the plot was incidental to the dialogue. Danny directed Erma Schiele, Dan Rubinate and Paula Venetti, who made up the cast.

All in all, the evening was an enjoyable one. Let's have more of the same.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Steve Zawyrucha scores winning goal as Bomber soccer-men drub Cortland 3-2. Coach Ben Light leaves for duty with armed forces.

TAPE and LINIMENT

By Bob Wendland

Even though the steady dribble of basketballs is all one hears about the gyms of I.C. nowadays we pause to mention the latest bit of fall sports news: trying out for the U. S. Olympic soccer team in Troy are Harry Arnold and Bob Schilling each of whom accounted for a goal when the Yavitsmen played Syracuse University and defeated them on Percy Field. Schilling will be remembered as the player who received credit for a goal actually kicked by John Horchkiss of Ithaca. The ball deflected off Schilling into the I.C. net and he received credit for the goal.

Others trying out for the same squad are Capt. Charles Trimpi, Pete Sawyer and Charlie Berman of Cornell. Few members of the IC squad will cast a doubt on the ability of the aforementioned players, but many wonder why such outstanding men as Kirk Holland and Charlie Day of Rochester; Joe Kurzawski of Seton Hall; Fred Ingold of Panzer and Pappas Moskowitz and Intercola of Mohawk were not among those listed for tryouts. Could it be another cause of "politics" in the Intercollegiate sports world.

The big topic of the week is of course basketball. With only four days practice after the vacation left Ben Light is working his courtmen extra hard to prepare them for that Dec. 5 opener against powerful Iona here in our own Seneca Gym.

Possibly the most difficult job in turning out another successful Bomber team will be in the grooming of an adequate replacement for last year's Capt. Jim Hercinger. Judging from what has been seen thus far in the Aurora Gym practice sessions Ben Light has no one to fill "Big Jim's" brogans. Thus far the only newcomer to break into the array of veterans returning from last year's squad is Ross Passineau. With each passing day, he is showing more of the ability which won him previous honors both at Union and Stevens Tech, where he performed last year. Most student observers feel it will be Passineau and Bob Sampson in the backcourt when Ithaca trots onto the court December 5.

At this writing, no one has come close to challenging Bob Vosbrinck's claim to the pivot slot. However, as a dark horse selection, we suggest you keep an eye on J. P. "Bud" Smith, business student, whose abounding ability and aggressiveness are bound to assert themselves before the season draws to a close.

After a successful season with "Doe" Yavits' soccer squad, Andy Sykela is rapidly regaining his court sense, and is due for a big season.

Who will be running alongside of the aggressive Sykela is still a question. Once again, selecting a dark horse, the nomination goes to Joe Jastrab, Binghamton veteran, whose ability as a pivot man seems to fit well into Light's plans for installing a double pivot. Should Joe fail to continue his early season spirit, the spot will probably go to Dick Slesinski, currently understudying Vosbrinck.

For all who have been wondering—you may relax, for according to Ben Light, new lines are to be painted on the Seneca St. hardwood and also a new seal-coat is to be applied before the opening game.

Should anyone have a Tuesday or Wednesday night free after December 2nd, we suggest you wander over to the Boynton Jr. High School Gym where the Ithaca City League will be running off its schedule.

Entered in the league are several teams whose rosters are abundantly sprinkled with I.C. students. Cream of the lot appears to be Ted Thorens' Corner Book Store Team. Apparently Ted has cornered the market on the excess talent about the "campus." From last year's varsity and Jayvee units Ted has Frank Markell, George Wurtenburg, Bill Zarucha, and George Monagan. Coxie's Diner has Joe Corcoran from the Frosh squad while Coddington's VFW Legion and the YMCA entry all will be playing men who are familiar figures on the I.C. "campus."

Revision of Schedule For Intramural League

There will be four games played each Saturday, instead of the originally scheduled two games.

These games will be played at 1:00, 2:00, 3:00, 4:00, started on the hour.

Time for these games will consist of:

- 8 minute quarters
- 1 minute interval between quarters
- 3 minute interval between halves
- 1 minute interval for time out
- 15 minutes for practice between games

- Each team must have at least four men on the floor by five minutes prior to each game in which they participate.

- All participants will wear gym shoes and gym suits. No street clothes will be allowed.

- Joe H. Donovan is in complete charge. All complaints must be directed to him by the team captains.

- There will be no delays. Games will start on the hour, without exception. Teams not ready to play at the scheduled time will forfeit the game.

Schedule for period starting Saturday, November 22, 1947.

	Nov. 22	Dec. 8	Dec. 13	Jan. 10

RADIO AT RANDOM

by Paul Hadley

Well, here's the opportunity every writer hopes to have. We've got a deadline to meet and little material; so, we're going to give this space to several guys and gals who have deserved mention for a long time, like Sybil Hullman, who checks this column each week for accuracy and thoroughness of coverage.

We'd like to give a journalistic bouquet to the people who make the wheels go round in the Radio Workshop. They're all hard workers, and theirs is a thankless job; so this little tribute is really deserving.

Ruby Westervelt, the harrassed manager, has done a great deal to help set up the routine, establish practices, and train the new people in their jobs. Ruby served her apprenticeship in the old studios in the Green Room, so she's well qualified. To her, we offer a salute.

Next, Joan Blum, as the Program Director, deserves as much mention as any on the staff. Joan is responsible for the programming, which means that she has enough to do to keep her busy all day—every day—even without her studies. It's a tough job, but a barrel of laughs, eh, Joan?

Our spotlight next picks up a figure huddled over a typewriter, away from the glamour and fun of radio. She spends hours rewriting, editing, timing, criticizing and just plain writing all of the copy and written material—other than the major dramatic production—that is broadcast each week. We're speaking of prematurely graying Enid Levy. If there is a thankless job in radio, continuity is it, and Enid is the Continuity Director. So, on behalf of the others who work with her, here is our thanks to aswell fellow worker.

The Production Director, who oversees all actual operations not covered by Joan Blum is Dave Mistovsky. Dave has served a long tenure of apprenticeship too . . . His job is a little more fun, for he's in on a good many broadcasting operations. So next time you're over Workshop way, you'll probably see Dave in the control room throwing cues, or showing somebody else how.

Where you find Dave, you'll probably find Dan Bonacci, and the Workshop is no different. Danny is very much in evidence as the Chief Announcer. He assigns the announcers to the various shows and spot announcements. Here again, the responsibility isn't apparent, but it's there just the same.

Another job that is without glamour, but packed with fun is engineering—held down by two characters—namely, Ed Pinkney and a chap named Scott. These two see to it that what the others do is finally broadcast, either to WHCU, WHCU-FM, or to the Theater. Each Tuesday, you can see the boys struggling through the rain (it always rains on Tuesday) en route to the Theater with a large loud-speaker and an amplifier. They have assistants in Larry Goldberg, Bruce Flaherty, and a host of others. Incidentally, if you'd like to get on the board, contact "Pinky" and he may be able to give you some work in the control room.

We mustn't forget Chuck "make a noise" Schafer. Chuck and his assistant, Bob Bischoff, are the boys who provide all the ingenious sound effects for practically all the shows.

There are lots of other people who work mighty hard each week to bring you the broadcasts. Folks who, of necessity, stay behind the scenes. We only wish we had the space here to tell of the work they have done and of the many fine things they have planned for the future. Again, a large bouquet to each and every person who makes the wheels go round in the Ithaca College Radio Workshop.

Have a nice Thanksgiving, next week, and don't eat too much. So until next issue at this same time, this is Radio At Random saying, "So long, everybody."

GREEN ROOM GHOSTS

By Walt Loomer

Once again, dear reader, the jovial season of the year in which people gather throughout our grand and glorious nation to eat themselves blue in the face, has rolled around. Thanksgiving, with its festive air of turkeys, pumpkin pies, and assorted edible goodies once more is with us.

Of all our national holidays there is no national holiday which more deserves to be a national holiday than this national holiday. (Gad, what a line!)

Now that we have once more come face to face with the prospect of eating ourselves blue in the face, a prospect with which we have lately become unfamiliar, (General Bradley please note) it behooves us to tell again the tale of how Thanksgiving came to be.

Many years ago, a few centuries to be exact, the Pilgrim Fathers and the Pilgrim Mothers were having trouble. So, too, were the Pilgrim Sons and the Pilgrim Daughters, to say nothing of the Pilgrim Aunts and the Pilgrim Uncles. In fact the whole Pilgrim family were on their uppers.

They had left England, and taken up residence among the wilds of New England. When the Mayflower landed in New England the Pilgrims found trees and Indians, in that order. First, they saw trees. Then, when they looked behind the trees, they found Indians.

All through the dealings between the Indians and the Pilgrims a spirit of old world camaraderie and joi de vivre prevailed. When the Indians were separating the Pilgrims from their hair they would clip away with the greatest enjoyment conceivable. And, likewise, when the Pilgrims were firing their blunderbusses (Ed: Note: A blunderbuss is not a Greyhound in an accident.) at their red brothers they would do it secure in the knowledge that it was all for the best.

But, after going through thick and thin, rough and tumble, starvation, privation, and sad situation, the Pilgrim Fathers turned to the Pilgrim Mothers and said, "Verily, forsooth, and Egad, we've done it." To which the Pilgrim Mothers replied, "Thank God." And that was just what they did.

I.C. Students Announce College Shows for WHCU

This year, more than ever before, presents a wonderful opportunity for the Radio Workshop students to gain experience in actual radio broadcasting.

The recently inaugurated station WHCU-FM is using Ithaca College students as announcers for remote FM broadcasts, that is, those broadcasts which originate outside of the radio studio itself.

The first of the programs jointly produced by WHCU-FM and WICR was the Barber Shop Quartet competitions, held in the Little Theater, for which program WICR wrote the continuity and contributed the services of Dan Bonacci as announcer. The second program, the faculty String Quartet recital, was written and announced by Bruce Flaherty.

In addition to these broadcasts, plans are now being formulated to have workshop announcers who are interested in sports, act as understudies to the regular sports announcers of WHCU. These understudies would assist Mr. Sam Woodside, Assistant to the General Manager of WHCU and Director of News and Sports, in adding local color to the various football games held at Ithaca College by describing the field and giving spot announcements during intermissions.

Another way in which WHCU is cooperating with our Radio Department is by using the best spot announcements written by the Continuity and Scriptwriting class on their regular broadcasts.

Also in cooperation, members of the WHCU staff have addressed various radio classes of Ithaca College. The speakers included Miss Adrienne Larson, a former graduate of Ithaca College's Radio Department now employed as copywriter at WHCU, who addressed the Continuity and Scriptwriting class on "Writing Commercial Announcements for Radio;" Jerry Lamb, newscaster, who lectured on "Radio News" to the Introduction to Radio class and Sam Woodside, who spoke to the same class on "Sports Broadcasting."

Today, Michael R. Hanna, General Manager of WHCU, will discuss "Frequency Modulation" with the Station Administration class.

Frosh Officers Interviewed

You may have noted the results of the freshman elections which followed a especially energetic campaign on the part of the Business Department. Well, here's a bit of data about the successful candidates.

All four candidates hold two things in common. First, they all hail from small locales. President Jim Corrigan (Bus), comes from Bedford Hills; Vice President Roberta Moehringer (Phy Ed), is from Amsterdam; Secretary Anita Lowe (Bus) tells us Laurelton, L. I., is her home town, while pecuniary guardian (Treasurer to you), Edward Murphy (Phy Ed), is from New Rochelle. The second factor, common to all candidates, is that none are "furriners" from another state; all live in New York State.

Anita Lowe probably voiced the opinions of all four when she remarked that she was pleasantly surprised that she was elected to hold an office. She further added: "I'm happy that I chose to come to Ithaca College. It's swell here."

All candidates have pledged to carry out the duties of their offices to the very best of their ability. More power and success to them all.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

by Dave Barnett

DAVE MISTOVSKY

DAN BONACCI

Roommates in the most strategic outlook over the Gorge (they live at the entrance on Linn Street) are in the circle of the Spotlight this week, and this guest writer has found no little difficulty in telling you all there is to tell about Dave Mistovsky ("Misty") and Dan Bonacci. Somehow or other, these two drama students have managed to pop up in every phase of dramatic activity not to mention the extra-curricular stuff—since they enrolled here at I.C. four years ago.

Dave comes all the way from Rahway, N. J., and Danny represents the Rochester clan. Both are members of Kappa Gamma Psi and Theta Alpha Phi fraternities, and Adelphi. The Ithacan Office is just like home to them too, for they have been regular newshounds all this time; Dave last year's co-editor, and Dan as columnist. Danny also worked as drama editor of the Cayuga.

There haven't been many major productions in the Little Theatre which have missed these two names on the playbill. Dave has a score of nine productions of which the role of "Sid" in Clifford Odet's Waiting for Lefty remains the most satisfying memory. Danny has chalked up twelve plays and remembers "Sandy Tyrell" in Hay Fever as the part he liked best.

The traditional "Scampers" has had its share of this pair, too. Two years ago they romped through the show as clowns and last year Danny directed "Star Trouble" which came from his own pen. One of his biggest thrills at I.C. came when his exuberance on the last of this show helped him re-write the show on stage. This year Dan is on the Scampers Committee, which rounds out four years of this activity for him.

Last Friday and Saturday, the latest bit of Bonacci-ata came across the boards in the form of a one act entitled "Oh, Marie." At present Dan holds the position of Chief Announcer at WICR, the College Radio Workshop. His ambition is to "bypass the number of children my father has" (your reporter discovered this to be nine) and in his "spare time" he would like to become a Hollywood (Jimmy Fidler style) columnist. In the meantime, Dan expects to work in a Rochester radio station with the hope of later expanding into the more classical regions of the field of artistic endeavor.

Dave at present is wrapped up in radio, and much of his time goes into being Production Manager of the Radio Workshop. This can be a nerve-racking job and tempers can get short, but Dave says as roommates, he and Danny have found the most remarkable thing is the way they resolve their disputes with a minimum of conversation. "Perhaps that's because we know what the other is thinking." And most of the time Dave is thinking about Gilda—a student at Hunter College. She is Dave's ambition personified. To support this ambition he looks forward to a radio job in the metropolitan area of New York, and eventually some stage work, writing, and network newscasting and announcing. All he desires is to make enough "to have a good home and all that goes with it." Meantime, he wants to be listed among the active fighters of intolerance.

Dave recalls as his greatest thrills here at the college (besides thinking about Gilda) the first issue of the Ithacan last year when the paper returned to full size, and doing a few news and sports shows at WHCU.

With glowing adjectives, Dave keeps the "small one" awake all night describing his beauteous brunette, whom he admits has a higher I.Q. than he. On these occasions, Dan invariably is lost in his own aura of celestial romance, and despairing at the lack of time which prohibits him from transferring his thoughts into action.

The story of the "Smiling Irishmen" speaks for itself, and that's why the Senior Spotlight shines today on Dave Mistovsky and Dan Bonacci.
